CONCOURS DE GENÈVE

INTERNATIONAL MUSIC COMPETITION

Voice Awards Ceremony 2024 © Anne-Laure Lechat

Founded in 1939, the Concours de Genève is one of the world's leading international music competitions. Its mission is to discover, promote and support young talented artists, providing them with the necessary tools to launch an international career.

RENOWNED LAUREATES

The list of Concours de Genève prize-winners is a roll-call of many of the greatest musicians including Martha Argerich, Arturo Benedetti-Michelangeli, Victoria De Los Angeles, Alan Gilbert, Nelson Goerner, Friedrich Gulda, Heinz Holliger, Nobuko Imai, Quatuor Melos, Emmanuel Pahud, Maurizio Pollini, Georg Solti, José Van Dam, Christian Zacharias, Tabea Zimmermann – and many more.

MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

Within the world of international music competitions, a multi-disciplinary approach is rare and represents one of the Concours de Genève's most distinctive assets. Since its creation in 1939, 26 disciplines have been presented: instrumental, vocal, ensemble music or conducting. Today, the Competition alternates between eight main disciplines: piano, flute, clarinet, cello, viola, string quartet, voice and percussion. Every second year, it offers the Composition Competition.

SUPPORTING CONTEMPORARY CREATION

Every second year, Geneva hosts a Composition Competition, continuing the tradition of the Prix Reine Marie José. By placing musical creation at the heart of its artistic project, the Concours de Genève plays a pioneering role and contributes to the renewal of classical and contemporary music.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Concours de Genève laureates are offered an ambitious career development programme, providing precious support and advice to help boost their careers. This includes management representation, two years of international concert tours with one winner given the opportunity to record an album, with orchestra, on the La Dolce Volta label.

80TH ANNIVERSARY EDITION

This year, the Concours de Genève celebrates its 80th Anniversary edition with the Conducting Competition returning for the first time since 1994 when Alan Gilbert won the top prize.

CONDUCTING COMPETITION

A COMPETITION IN TWO STAGES

The six semi-finalists © Anne-Laure Lechat

The return of Conducting to the Concours de Genève, more than thirty years after the 1994 edition, called for a dedicated format. Bringing together several orchestras, numerous musicians and substantial resources, the Competition was designed to take place over two seasons, in 2025 and 2026.

The first two rounds took place in autumn 2025 with the Orchestre de la Haute école de musique de Genève, followed by the Orchestre de Chambre de Genève, resulting in the selection of six semi-finalists.

In November 2026, they will continue the Competition through three Semi-Final Rounds, each featuring a different ensemble and repertoire: the Orchestre de Chambre de Genève in 19th-century symphonic repertoire, Ensemble Contrechamps in contemporary repertoire, and the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande in a programme of concertos with soloists.

Three candidates will then advance to the Finals with the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande. The first will bring them together with the finalists of the Composition Competition, whose works they will conduct, while the second will be devoted to major symphonic repertoire.

This format allows the candidates to be assessed across a wide range of settings, musical styles and repertoire, on a journey spanning from Beethoven and Schubert to contemporary creation.

The six semi-finalists are:

Alejandro Cantalapiedra (Spain)
Jacobus de Jager (South Africa)
Michal Oren (Israel)
Gabriel Pernet (Switzerland)
Mats Thiersch (Germany)
Leonard Weiss (Australia)

CONDUCTING COMPETITION

WORKSHOPS & MASTERCLASSES

Workshop avec Pascal Rophé en mai

Between the first rounds in 2025 and the Semi-Finals in November 2026, the six semi-finalists of the Conducting Competition have benefited from a dedicated development programme, inspired by the support traditionally offered by the Concours de Genève to its laureates. Masterclasses, work on contemporary music, professional workshops and the development of a personal artistic project have punctuated their year.

In February, the six conductors took part in a five-day masterclass with Daniele Gatti, organised in partnership with the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande. This first stage gave them the unique opportunity to work closely with the Italian conductor and the orchestra, several months before their return to Geneva for the Semi-Finals.

In May, the Conducting semi-finalists met the three finalists of the Composition Competition to explore the works selected by the jury. Led by conductor Pascal Rophé, a specialist in contemporary repertoire, the session focused on analysing and approaching new scores, in preparation for the joint Composition and Conducting Final in November.

Finally, in September, the six semi-finalists return to Geneva for a professional development workshop addressing key aspects of a conducting career, including career development, working with agents, artistic identity and positioning within the music industry. They will also present their Personal Artistic Project, developed in advance, to a jury of industry professionals. The selected project will receive the Fondation Etrillard Prize, awarded in November.

Together, these three initiatives extend the Competition beyond the competitive rounds themselves, providing the semi-finalists with artistic and professional support throughout the year as they prepare for the final stages of the Competition.

UNSUK CHIN, CHAIR

Unsuk Chin was born in 1961 in Seoul and has lived in Germany since 1985. Her music is widely acclaimed around the world and has been celebrated with a series of prestigious international awards. She was composer in residence at the Lucerne Festival, the NDR Elbphilharmonie Orchestra, the BBC's Total Immersion Festival, and many more. She is also a dedicated concert curator and Artistic Director. Having directed the Seoul Philharmonic's Ars Nova and the London Philharmonia's Music of Today series, she is currently Artistic Director of the Tongyeong Festival in Korea and the Weiwuying International Music Festival in Taiwan.

TOSHIO HOSOKAWA

Born in Hiroshima, Toshio Hosokawa is one of the most significant Japanese composers of his time. He has written around 200 works, including orchestral works, concertos, chamber music and operas, and has been a member of the Berlin Academy of Arts since 2001. He has received the Japan Foundation Award (2018), the Goethe Medal (2021), the Berkeley Japan Prize (2023) and the BBVA Foundation Frontiers of Knowledge Award (2025). He is Artistic Director of the Takefu International Music Festival and the Suntory Hall Programme for Music Composition. His recent works focus on nature and often combine European and traditional Japanese instruments.

MAGNUS LINDBERG

Magnus Lindberg is one of the leading European composers of his generation, particularly admired for his orchestral music. His works are performed worldwide by major orchestras, ensembles and soloists, including Yefim Bronfman, Yuja Wang, Frank Peter Zimmermann, Pekka Kuusisto, Avanti, Ensemble InterContemporain, London Sinfonietta, Philharmonia Orchestra, and the Los Angeles and Chicago Symphony Orchestras, under conductors such as Salonen, Saraste, Oramo, Lintu, Franck, Rattle, Heras- Casado and Gilbert. SING-YAT CHEN, 25 YEARS OLD, HONG KONG

Sing-Yat Chen is a Hong Kong composer and pianist, and a 2026 Gaudeamus Award finalist. Described by Neue Musik Zeitung as displaying an “impressively reflective inner struggle,” she creates immersive soundscapes inspired by literature, science and the visual arts. A former Bang on a Can Fellow, she has collaborated with Ensemble Modern and cellist Jeffrey Zeigler. Her works, which explore themes of duality, have been presented at Festival Mixtur and performed on the historic 1746 Hildebrandt organ.

HER WORK

SHATTERED SKY / REMAINING LAND

“Inspired by James Turrell’s Skyspace, this work explores samsara through breath. Gazing at an aperture recalls a pale sun after a bleak winter—a punctured sky where light pierces with sharp agony. From a fragile bass clarinet monologue, the sound gradually fractures into noise, mirroring the crackling glaze of Song Dynasty Ru ware.”

HANURIJ LEE, 21 YEARS OLD, SOUTH KOREA

Born in Seoul, Hanurij Lee is currently studying composition at the Korea National University of Arts. His work explores the sonic relationships between instruments through their inherent possibilities and restrained gestures, rather than seeking to convey explicit concepts. His music has been performed at the Wittener Tage für Neue Kammermusik, the Verbier Festival, the Daegu International Contemporary Music Festival, and as part of the Initiative Neue Musik OWL.

HIS WORK

STUFF #1

“The Stuff series originates from an interest in the endlessly repetitive structures of Khrushchyovka apartments and the gradual erasure of individual sensation within them. However, Stuff #1 (Hymne pour le Velu qui hoche la tête) departs slightly from the dry and rigid atmosphere of the previous works, instead emerging from images of dust, fur, and a shaggy figure subtly nodding its head. Repetition remains central, but here it functions less as a structural device than as a kind of sensory residue accumulating inside an aging interior.”

COMPOSITION COMPETITION

FINALISTS

RAFAEL MARINO ARCARO, 37 YEARS OLD, BRAZIL/ITALY

Rafael Marino Arcaro is a Brazilian composer now based between Berlin and London. His music draws on memories of his rural childhood – fruit trees, insects, nighttime creatures – as well as his reflections on Brazilian artistic identity. Known for an aesthetic of clarity and restraint, he writes works imbued with the flavours of sour mango and cotton candy. His music is emotionally direct, combining playful seriousness with, at times, striking violence.

HIS WORK

INVENTION IN LANGUAGE OF CHILD, OP. 22

and I forgot bedtime and

CONCERT QUATUOR TERPSYCORDES & CÉDRIC PESCIA SALLE FRANZ LISZT, CONSERVATOIRE

Twenty-five years ago, the Quatuor Terpsycordes made a remarkable impression by winning First Prize at the very first String Quartet Competition organised by the Concours de Genève. Since then, the Terpsycordes have remained loyal partners of the Competition – companions on our journey, friends, and artists we have always been able to count on. Their anniversary and ours deserved to be celebrated in style. For the occasion, the Terpsycordes Quartet is joined by pianist Cédric Pescia, who is also President of the Competition's Artistic Committee.

AROUND THE COMPETITION

MEDIATION

A true cultural project, the Concours de Genève has brought together the city's main musical institutions for over 80 years. Outreach activities are an important part of the Competition, which seeks to transmit its values and introduce young people and local communities to classical music.

AUDIENCE PRIZE

The Audience Prize gives those attending the Finals the opportunity to express their own opinion by voting for their favorite finalist.

YOUNG AUDIENCE PRIZE

Today's youth forms tomorrow's audience. Participating in the Young Audience Prize teaches young people to become active listeners, but also how to form a judgement, how to review an artist's performance. This project brings together music students, but also students from local public and private schools.

STUDENTS' PRIZE

The Students' Prize brings together in the same jury music students from the Haute école de musique de Genève and musicology students from the University of Geneva. Future professionals of the music field, they will someday become performers, composers, music critics, scholars, presenters, and concert organizers...

MASTERCLASSES

For more than ten years, the Concours de Genève has organised, in collaboration with the Haute école de musique Genève-Neuchâtel, a masterclass led by one of the members of its juries. This year's masterclass is dedicated to piano students from the HEM Genève.

NEW AUDIENCES

The Concours de Genève has recently created an outreach policy directed towards remote, impeded, or distant audiences. By offering concerts in public spaces, in companies and in institutions, it aims at arousing curiosity, stimulating interest in classical music, and reaching new audiences.

AROUND THE COMPETITION

MEDIATION

YOUNG AUDIENCE PRIZE

The Young Audience Prize reflects the Concours de Genève's commitment to cultural participation and to making classical music accessible to younger generations. Open to participants aged 12 to 25, the programme offers a unique immersion in the world of the Concours.

It welcomes young people from a wide range of backgrounds, whether they are pursuing musical studies or simply wish to discover classical music from a new perspective. Through workshops, meetings with music professionals and opportunities for discussion, participants develop listening skills and learn how to express thoughtful and informed artistic opinions. They then serve as a jury and award the Young Audience Award to the candidate of their choice, with the winner announced at the Awards Ceremony.

2026 PROGRAMME

- Composition: An immersion in the world of contemporary music creation, including a preparatory workshop, discussions with composers, access to the Final Round and a behind-the-scenes experience.
- Conducting: An opportunity to experience the art of conducting at close range, with a preparatory workshop, access to a Semi-final Round, a practical conducting workshop alongside professional musicians, followed by access to the Final Round and a behind-the-scenes experience.

COLLABORATION WITH THE UNIVERSITY OF GENEVA

Each year, the University of Geneva and the Haute école de musique de Genève jointly offer an introductory course in music mediation. Students from both institutions are invited to design mediation projects aimed at helping diverse audiences engage with musical works and instruments, reflect on the social and aesthetic dimensions of music, and gain insight into the profession of musician. These activities, which take place prior to the musical performance itself, can take a variety of forms, ranging from sound productions and programme notes to more interactive exchanges with audiences.

A partner of the course since its inception, the Concours de Genève offers students the opportunity to put their ideas into practice by connecting them with audiences and showcasing their work. This year, course participants will meet the composers competing for the Composition Competition, write texts about the works performed during the Finals, and develop a mediation activity for concertgoers on the evening of the concert.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Sarah Strohm, Prizewinner 2025 - presentation of her artistic project © Anne-Laure Lechat

In 2003, the Concours de Genève launched its ambitious Career Development Programme. Consisting of various modules, the programme is designed to help our laureates explore and define their artistic identity while equipping them with the tools necessary for an international career.

I. CONCERTS & MANAGEMENT

In addition to the official prizes, laureates benefit from two years of support from the Paris-based concert agency Sartory Artists. The programme is structured around three key areas: visibility, through concerts, collaborations, professional encounters and connections with networks and agencies; mentoring, through training, shared experience and a deeper understanding of the profession, its codes and practical realities; and exploration and development, with personalised coaching designed to foster musical growth, strengthen artistic identity and support the development of new projects.

II. PRIZEWINNERS' WORKSHOP

Each year, the Concours de Genève organizes professional workshops, offering participants sessions on topics such as stage presence, health and well-being, career management, personal branding, and social media. This year, the six semi-finalists of the Conducting Competition took part in two workshops, one in May and one in September.

III. ARTISTIC PROJECT

To enable young musicians to express their artistic vision and pursue their professional ambitions, the Concours de Genève introduced the Artistic Project round, supported by the Fondation Etrillard. The most compelling project will receive the support of both the Competition and the Fondation to make it a reality.

FRIENDS ASSOCIATION

AN ESSENTIAL SUPPORT FOR CANDIDATES

Concert des Amis avec Bryan et Silvie Cheng © Anne-Laure Lechat

The mission of the Concours de Genève Friends' Association is to contribute to the promotion and success of the Competition, by:

- Organising and helping to finance the candidates' stay in Geneva. Annual membership fees contribute to covering candidates' meal and local transportation expenses.
- Providing high-quality accommodation for all candidates through the generosity of host families.
- Strengthening and fostering lasting ties between the Concours de Genève and its laureates by actively supporting the Career Development Programme, particularly through the organisation of private and public concerts.

Members of the Friends' Association enjoy numerous benefits while, above all, contributing to the quality of the welcome extended to each candidate – a quality praised by musicians from across the world.
